

The MBC Connect patient experience registry is now closing, but we invite you to explore alternate options.

When MBC Connect was launched in 2018, it was a ground-breaking initiative. Since then, the landscape for patient-reported data collection has changed and there are more ways for patients to find clinical trials and report their experiences to researchers. To best serve people living with MBC, the Alliance is now devoting its resources toward developing other impactful initiatives. However, it still remains important for members of the MBC community to share their valuable knowledge through patient experience registries. Such registries can:

- Help clinicians better understand disease progression and how symptoms impact quality of life
- Help researchers validate animal models, establish outcome measures, and develop new therapies
- Help industry partners evaluate the safety and effectiveness of treatments, and improve clinical trial design

We encourage you to explore the following alternate options for MBC patients.

PATIENT EXPERIENCE REGISTRIES

Share For Cures

This online research platform developed by Susan G. Komen®, a nonprofit member of the Alliance, empowers those living with breast cancer to accelerate research by sharing their health data. Komen is collaborating with other cancer nonprofits to expand the platform's reach to diverse audiences, and its value to researchers. Learn more: Komen.org/ShareForCures

The Cancer Experience Registry

This online research study by Cancer Support Community, a nonprofit member of the Alliance, is uncovering the emotional, physical, practical, and financial impacts of cancer to help create better outcomes for people living with cancer. Participants can complete follow-up surveys to track changes over time. Learn more: CancerSupportCommunity.org/Registry

CLINICAL TRIAL MATCHING TOOLS

Metastatic Breast Cancer Trial Search

Designed by and for people with MBC, this clinical trial matching tool from BreastCancerTrials.org, a member of the Alliance, now has a "Trial Alerts" feature. Registered users get weekly emails with trials that match their health and treatment histories, as they become available. Learn more: BreastCancerTrials.org/Metastatic-Trial-Search.html

Carebox Connect

Our nonprofit member TOUCH, the Black Breast Cancer Alliance, has partnered with Carebox to launch a new web application that has been optimized to provide the Black community a simple way to search all breast cancer clinical trials available across the U.S. and find matches that may be a good fit. Learn more: Connect.CareboxHealth.com/en-US/Partner/Touch
